

Tralee women help Build4Life

Kerry-based charity Build4Life is to benefit from a special event held at a Tralee restaurant last week. Val's Bar & Restaurant hosted the Black & Gold evening, in association with RSVP magazine, to raise funds for the charity, which aims to provide life saving facilities for people living with cystic fibrosis at Cork University Hospital.

The evening highlighted hair, fashion, beauty and make-up for women, and attracted a strong crowd.

On show were the latest fashion Christmas collections from Debenhams and evening wear by award-winning Kerry-based designer, Caroline Atelier.

Siobhan O'Mahony, Clarins senior make-up artist, provided a make-up master class, while Marta Plechows-

LADIES: Attending the Build 4 Life charity night at Val's Bar & Restaurant, Tralee, on Wednesday night were l-r: Margaret Brick (RSVP), Saule Jusieme, Bobby O'Halloran (proprietor), Ole Nakalmima, Jill Hannon and Karen Soffe.

ka of Sean Taaffe Hair & Beauty showed guests how they could create a perfectly simple up-style at home.

The Most Stylish Girl on the night was chosen by Caroline Matthews on behalf of RSVP magazine, and the honours went to Tara Murphy of Clogherbrien, Tralee, who came dressed in gold, keeping with the Black & Gold theme for the night.

Tara won a shopping trip to Cork, including a night at the Kingsley Hotel in Cork City for two, plus more.

Linda Fitzgerald, from Tralee Printing Works, won a beautiful Clarins hamper of make-up and skincare products when she was judged the girl with the best applied make-up on the night.

Both girls also will receive a year's subscription to RSVP magazine.

Topping the night off was an appearance by Kerry footballer, Paul Galvin, who supported the charity on the night much to the delight of the ladies present.
